Roland Trope is a partner in the New York offices of Trope and Schramm LLP. He advises on:

- Government procurements,
- Protecting intellectual property under U.S. Government contracts,
- Export controls and trade sanctions,
- Regulatory compliance in cross-border transactions,
- Licensing of technology and intellectual property,
- Corporate governance,
- Cyberspace law, and
- Ethics regulations for government contractors.

Mr. Trope is the co-author of two books published by the ABA:

- Checkpoints in Cyberspace: Best Practices for Averting Liability in Cross-Border Transactions
- Sailing in Dangerous Waters: A Director's Guide to Data Governance.

He has written over twenty articles, which include the following recently published works:

Under the Magnifying Lens of Ethical Scrutiny: Challenges of Web 2.0 to Professional Responsibilities of Lawyers and Law Firms, Essay for Continuing Legal Education Program, American Bar Association, Annual Meeting, August 2009 (First author)

‘Something There Is That Doesn’t Like A Wall’: Designing Policies for Employees’ Ethical Use of Online Social Media, Essay for Continuing Legal Education Program, American Bar Association, Business Section Meeting, April 2009

Hardening the Target, IEEE Security & Privacy, September/October 2008 (First author)

Mr. Trope serves on the Supervisory Board of IEEE Security & Privacy and as an Adjunct Professor in the Department of Law at the United States Military Academy at West Point, and lectures in its engineering departments on copyright, project management and ethics.